“ I will sorely miss my dear friend Annie...her sweet smile, her red lipstick, her thick southern North Carolina accent...but mostly her kindness, her big heart. I got to know Annie initially when I road to a Women's Retreat with her and Annetta Dearing several years ago. We laughed until we cried all the way to Trinity Pines and remained close friends after that memorable road trip.

Annie was definitely fun to be around, but she had a very serious side, too. She continually uplifted her family, their health and their happiness. She never once hesitated to hold one (or more!) of them up in prayer each Sunday. Oh, how she believed in the power of prayer! She never hesitated to share touching stories of faith; they were testimonies of a sort. She simply wasn't afraid to be REAL-- her best quality by far. Yes, I will sorely miss her, and praise God I got to know her. To her loved ones, "May God grant you peace and comfort. I know the pain is great, but rest assured, Annie is dancing in heaven and making others smile, I'm pretty sure of that."
