“ There is no greater bond to be shared than the bond and love between brothers. As a mother of two boys, it’s deep and coveted. My memory of Chad was he was always sitting outside, in his thoughts, in the moment, and enjoyed the quiet not chaos. It brought a sense of calm for me to sit with him and talk about life...or comfortably sit in silence. I admired him for his sincere care for others. He threw the football around with my boys on the property and I appreciated that. He also always made sure, along with his brother Jimmy, that the boys never disrespected me and opened the door for me, etc. He just was a genuinely good man. My heart goes out to all family and friends grieving during this time. It comes in waves, take it a day/minute at a time. -Allie Schuetz

“ In honor of my brother I'd like to share some of my most special memories of him and our family. I'll miss all the Thanksgivings and Christmas' at my brother David & Mel's, giving them all hugs while drinking around the table. Our family trip to the Grand Canyon when we were young...and playing football with him. The void can never be filled from the loss of a brother. I will think of him and miss him daily. I love him with all my heart and will see him again one day. - Jimmy Atwood
