

George Coulam

May 21, 2025

Mr. Coulam expressed more than once prior to his death that when he passed away he wanted all arrangements kept private, by invitation only.

In Loving Memory of George C. Coulam
"King George"

Founder of the Texas Renaissance Festival
Longtime Mayor of Todd Mission, Texas
Artist, Visionary, and Beloved Friend

George C. Coulam was a man who imagined worlds — and then built them.

As the founder of the Texas Renaissance Festival, he brought joy, wonder, and magic to millions over five decades.

As mayor of Todd Mission, he transformed a quiet patch of Texas
into a living realm of celebration.

But beyond the titles and the festival gates,

George was, above all, an artist —
a soul who painted life with vision, and shaped beauty from spirit.

He left sketches of the eternal on this earth,
and in us, the call to carry on his light.
Even in silence, his spirit guides the hands that create.
For those who plant beauty, never truly die.

Some of his creations remain unfinished — wall quilts, sculpture, and garden —
but his legacy is whole,
alive in every stitch, every stone, every blossom,
and in the hearts he stirred to dream.
He turned his home and land into a living museum,
a sanctuary where art, memory, and imagination continue to thrive.

The Addison family and staff of Magnolia Funeral Home extend condolences to the many people who knew and loved Mr. Coulam.

“ My dear George,

I write this with a heavy heart. I am so sorry you had to go out like this. I am honoured that I knew you, even if only for a short time. I have so much love, respect, and gratitude for you. You were kind to me during one of the most difficult times of my life. I appreciate your kindness, intelligence, artistry, and generosity. You had a beautiful spirit. You tried to find love, and you built temples and churches to get closer to God, which I find so beautiful. I miss you, and I'm deeply saddened by your passing. May your next reincarnation be wonderful. I love you George. Rest easy, King. ❤️🌹

“ George gave me many happy memories. In the past, the Renfest was a magical place for me. I hate the fact he ended himself when he still had completely won in life. I hope the new owners not just honor his vision but make it even more magical in his memory!

“ I know there are many individuals that spent more time with the iconic King George than i did. My time in his castle as a house manager was demanding but regrading as he insisted on discipline, excellency and loyalty! King George was definitely one of the most fascinating gentleman I've ever met. I thank Ms. Kristi and Ms. Hailey for making me a part of their team. Kristi told me I would experience a heavenly feeling at Stargate and she was correct! I hope a can drop off the perfect flower arrangement at his mosaleum one day. May the Spirit of King George will be with us forever!

You gave me a opportunity that no one else ever did, because of you my art was seen and got out into the world. I am grateful to have met you, I am grateful for the shared love of art.
