

Jeannot van Lammeren

July 11, 2023

Jeannot passed away tragically near his home. He was the most loving person, who possessed a heart as gold. He knew how to listen at the most difficult times, to make sure one is shown that unconditional love is within all of us. He knew every book deserved to be opened despite its cover. He was proof that humanity's greatest strength is love.

Jeannot thrived to be the greatest at anything he put his mind to. He studied subjects of interest where he did not fear the Rabbit Hole of its subcategories. He was an extremely competitive athlete that showed sportsmanship at every turn. From running long distance, short sprints or simply weight lifting, He understood what it took to push one's boundaries to the limit.

He loved eating! Refueling his body, he didn't have any better way than to break bread with his entire family, over a cozy late night gathering with all those that tend to forget to press pause in their busy lives, because he knew the value of family. He practiced gratitude as a father that cherished every moment, he could seize with his beloved daughter Jeanay.

The Addison family and staff of Magnolia Funeral Home extend condolences to the Van Lammeren family during this difficult time.
