“ It is with love and a grateful heart that I extend condolences to the Walker & Galloway families. Jo Lynn was an amazing woman who guided me with raw honesty and great food. She always knew exactly what to say and exactly what to do to make my world a better place and I know she did the same for others. She kept me on my toes with her stern, motherly advices and eased my mind with kind words. Jo Lynn was an excellent judge of character, fiercely protective of those she loved and showed her love through action. If there was a birthday, she was dropping off a personally decorated cake, or a pie in a box she custom made. If it was Christmas, she arrived with the most practical of gifts. If a loved one of anybody she knew was ill or passed, she was there with cater-style meals and goodies. And if a pet passed, she was there with a gift, a card & all the support you could need. In between, she'd drop by with a fun package of cookies unmatched by any other baker. She did things her way with effortless perfection and left no one out. If she wasn't busy, she wasn't happy and when she was busy, she was doing for someone else, no matter what the task. She was selfless. To know Jo Lynn has been one of the best and most unforgettable experiences of my life. I am grateful she allowed me to be part of hers. Her friendship set a standard most people don't get to experience.

Jo Lynn, from the bottom of my heart and soul, thank you my dear friend for your guidance, your love, your fairness, your excellent cooking, your acceptance of me as I am, and your amazing laugh. You became the family I lost. No one could fill those cowgirl boots & rule a kitchen like you ... I sure wish I'd paid more attention to how you made those unbelievably amazing briskets & I'll never look at ferns the same since your last birthday! Until we meet again Ms. Walker ...
