“ I’ve met Micheal on a few occasions throughout the family, great people, good moments and the warmest of smiles and laughs. I enjoyed the stories he told and the memories he shared with the family. He’s good people and he’s a great brother and son for sure. He will truly be missed. And he’s in all of our hearts and thoughts. Huge prayers to the family and friends. Thanks You Micheal for being the light we always needed. And don’t work too hard up there rest your feet and hard working hands. Much love!

“ Brother. That’s something we call each other in today’s slang without a second thought. What does it mean? A man? A father? A husband? A son? Mike was all of those things and lived above and beyond anyone’s expectations of those names. Was he perfect? Hell no, and he’d be the first to tell you too without blinking an eye. Because of that fact he always pushed himself, harder and farther than anyone I know, to try to get a little better every day.

He’s a cowboy of the old school: didn’t show much worry or fret on the outside always a smile or a joke; shot straight and didn’t pull any punches. If you did something wrong in Mike’s eyes he told you so then turned around and helped you fix it. If you did something right he’d tell you that too and say thank you to boot.

Brother you are missed, but I know you, you’re probably helping at the gate till they get your wings and halo made.

“ When I first met Mike here in Germany at a rodeo 20 years ago, he was the first cowboy that talked to me like I'm a person and not just somebody being with Dave! He was always ready to give a hand or bringing a smile on your face. He helped Jens to ride his calf including getting him ready! He was always there and ready to explain everything to Jens and Sven and also watching out for them!

I will never forget when he assigned himself as my bodyguard when David was down range. Scaring away a young cowboy, who wanted to ask me for a dance. Then escorting me when I went to the restroom telling me he was going for a walk 😭😭 and than escorting me through the arena so I could get safely to my car and go to sleep!

Mike and David ridding into the sunset on our ranch in Marlow. Not so long ago y'all showed us south padre island. The sunrise at the beach where we made the beautiful pictures with Jens and Madeleine!

Mike wasn't just a friend for us, he, you and the kids are Family! And that will always be that way! He is and will be always in our hearts. He was a true cowboy, always real, not a fake move on him! What you see is what you get.

Until we meet again!
