“ Our mom, she was... the comforter, the clown, best friend anyone could ask for, biggest heart - she'd go without to help someone and you wouldn't know she was going without. She loved yellow roses, which the meaning behind them says it all. Between her voice and way she looked at you , you knew she was already spinning her wheels how to lighten the mood, make it funnier or whatever mood you were in to make you feel better. My little sister, has every quality our mom had. My other 2 do as well. Our heart will forever have a piece missing.
