“ Apologies as I did not know Sonja for very long. My name is Brian Magnus. My son Logan who at the time was 13 years old and diagnosed with leukemia on December 27, 2018. In January our Doctor told us he had a 30% chance of success as he had AML as well as a mutation titled FLT-3 Positive. Lynn literally checked up every couple days. I also had some phone calls with the 2 of them. Big one that comes to mind was the night our Doctor told us the 30% success rate of my son. I spoke that night on a conference call to Lynn and Sonja and they told me to not listen to success rates but rather have faith!! I had lost my faith over the years but due to Lynn and Sonya has come back. I will be baptized on October 20 and my son Logan will ring the cancer bell later that day.

Thanks for all you did for us Sonja. Know you had all the prayer warriors you know praying for Logan! Can't thank-you enough for that!! 100% know you've never met my parents but know they were there to welcome you into Heaven and thank-you for praying for my son!

“ In the short time that I knew Sonja, I felt that I had known her all my life. I came to know her during the time of her brother, Gregory's illness and subsequent passing. To Ben, I know that your mother will be with you always, watching over you and guiding you throughout your life. Just listen quietly and you will hear her. To Lynn, I pray for you during this time of grief and loss. To Ralph, Summer, Jeremy, Iry Jay, Zack, Jake, Dustin and Desiree my prayers are with you as your hearts are broken at the loss of your mother. But a mother is always a part of her children. Keep her in your hearts and her spirit will comfort and console you just as when you were babies and she rocked you in her arms.

*My love and prayers to you all,
Shirley Barnaba, My husband Kent Landry and Ethan Landry*
