“ Condolences 💜 My cousin Tami was a beautiful soul. She called me the day before she went to Jesus. I wish I would have called her back. She was always so bubbly and happy when we talked. She is at peace with her mom and dad at her side 💜

“ It's taken me a while to process this loss. What to say about someone who was so fierce about the people she chose and loved.

When we met, she was waiting tables and I was new to the restaurant business. In fact, she was this cool chick I was in awe and maybe a little afraid of. She was “rocking” as she used to say. But quickly she clearly chose me: she taught me tips and tricks, she taught me to really be the best waitress I could be. I can see her ageless face and smile so clearly to this day. I remember her amazing studio apartment- alllll white. And Charmin, the cat from hell who loved her so much but barely tolerated others.

When she moved away I was afraid we wouldn't continue to stay friends but that didn't happen. Like I said, she chose me. And I chose her too. Deep love and friendship doesn't fade with time or distance.

What stands out is when she drove to get me from San Francisco once. We drove the Pacific Highway singing Mariah Carey at the top of our lungs in this cool convertible. It will always stay with me along with that smile and bright blue eyes and deep love.

Thank you for choosing me all those years ago, Tami. Until we meet again, may you drive and sing and remain “rocking”. I love you.

“How lucky am I to have something that makes saying goodbye so hard.”

Tami.....How did I get so lucky?

Lucky to call you my friend, my sister, my partner in crime.

Lucky to hear your infectious laughter. Lucky to see your big, beautiful smile.

Lucky to feel the warmth of your kindness and your unconditional love.

Lucky to experience a friendship that would span miles and last decades.

Lucky to be a part of you, your world, your life...your legacy.

I will miss the sounds of your laughter, the warmth of your kindness, your unconditional love. I will miss you every minute of every day of my life, my friend, my sister, my partner in crime.

“ To all of you who knew and loved Tami, I send my deepest condolences. She will be missed. Tami and I met some 15 years ago in Long Beach, CA. I moved into the apartment next door with my two young daughters 6 & 7 years old. Being a single mom was super tough, juggling their school, homework and holding down a full time job. Tami was truly a live savor for me. She put her arms around them, and me, and never let go. She helped all of us get through tough times and made them fun! and Jeremy and we knew she was just a phone call away. Tami, if you can hear us, please know that we love you and will never, ever forget you. May you rest in peace in Heaven.

“ Tami, you were my best friend and the sweetest person I've ever known. We met in high school and became best friends. I'll never forget all of the parties, and trips to the river and beach. You were always up for anything and always by my side. We were roommates in LA, and those were some of the best days of my life. When you moved to New York, I missed seeing you every day. But we had so much fun rollerblading through Central Park. Over the years, distance kept us apart, but, you were always just a phone call away and you never missed a big occasion. You were the most loyal and supportive friend anyone could ever ask for. You had the biggest heart. You never had anything bad to say about anyone and only ever wanted everyone to be happy. I will miss your unconditional love and support. I will miss hearing your raspy voice over the phone. We had so many plans to spend time together again. I can't believe you're gone. You will be forever in my heart. I love you, boo!

“ Tami, “nugget”... always one of my biggest cheerleaders. You always had faith in me, ALWAYS! I will never forget the time we got approval from Mike to drive me to the dentist bc I’m a big baby lol. You were traumatized watching me in the dental chair haha. Turns out, you were just as big of a baby regarding the dentist because you would always call me to ask who i was using so you could use them too. You adored my kiddos and were such a huge support system for me. Every phone call we had you reminded me that you loved me and how proud of me you were. You were just as important to me and you will forever be missed. I love you nugget. Rest in eternal peace
